Tobacco blue mold arrives early; widespread in Morgan plant beds

Blue mold was detected last week in tobacco plant beds in various locations across Morgan County.

County Extension Agent Sarah Fannin-Holliday said a check of Morgan County plants was conducted last Thursday by University of Kentucky plant pathologist Kenny Seebold after the fungal disease was confirmed a day earlier in Magoffin County.

Fannin-Holliday, who accompanied Seebold on site inspections across the county, said blue mold was confirmed in plants being raised for transplanting at five Morgan County farms. She said “approximately 30 acres of plant beds were infected and the operations are in all parts of the county.”

The outbreak is about a month earlier than usual in Kentucky and is the second straight year the nation’s first tobacco blue mold was reported in Kentucky, Seebold said.

The fungus detected in Magoffin County resulted in a total loss of plants for the two farmers affected and Seebold said the disease caused a total loss of plants at three operations in Morgan County.

Blue mold can reduce yields substantially if unchecked, and in worst cases, can kill tobacco plants.

Fannin-Holliday said recent cool, wet weather was ideal for the disease and urges growers to start immediately applying chemicals to plants still in greenhouses or outdoor float beds as well as to tobacco plants that have already been transplanted.

Fannin-Holliday estimated that about 15 to 20 percent of Morgan’s 2006 tobacco acreage has already been planted.

Seebold said officials are not sure what caused the early appearance of blue mold, but said indications are that the fungus could have come in on tobacco plants shipped into the state from the South.

“If the weather remains damp it’s just going to perpetuate it unless it turns hot and dry,” Fannin-Holliday said. She emphasized that chemical applications to hold the fungus in check should be started immediately.

Corpsman Whitt is cited for valor in Iraq

Navy Corpsman Brian David Whitt, formerly of West Liberty, recently returned from a seven-month tour in Iraq. While in action in Iraq, Whitt received the Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal with Combat Distinguishing Device for Heroic Achievement. The commendation in part, reads as follows:

“After Whitt’s mounted patrol was attacked by an improvised explosive device and small arms fire that killed one Marine and injured two others, without regard for his safety, he dismounted his vehicle, returned fire and exposed himself to the enemy while maneuvering 30 meters to the destroyed vehicle. Upon reaching the blast site, he freed a Marine pinned under the vehicle and rendered lifesaving medical aid. Still under fire, he helped prepare the casualty for evacuation and stabilized the Marine when he went into shock. Hospitalman Whitt’s initiative, courage, and devotion to duty reflected credit upon himself and upheld the highest tradition the United States Naval Service.”

Whitt is the son of Paul David and Sheila Black Whitt, formerly of West Liberty, and is the grandson of Gay Wilson and the late Fred Wilson and the late Paul Whitt of Wrigley, and the late Helen and Kenneth Collins and the late Tennyson Black of West Liberty.

Navy Corpsman David Whitt

Whitt is currently stationed in San Diego, California, with Company K, 3D Battalion, 1st Marines Regimental Combat Team 2, 2D Marine Division, Marine Expeditionary Force.

Police investigating burglary at Index

The West Liberty Police Department is investigating a burglary that occurred last Thursday night at Cougar Corner at Index.

The burglary was discovered when Patrolman Paul Perkins was dispatched to the convenience store at 3:45 a.m. in response to an alarm received at the dispatch center.

Perkins discovered a broken window and a check of the interior of the business revealed that cigarettes and an undisclosed amount of money had been stolen.

Assistant Police Chief Wayne Lewis said several pieces of evidence were collected and arrests are pending.

The case is being investigated by Patrolman Perkins.

Here's What Gov. Fletcher Could Do

By Todd Duval

FRANKFORT — If Gov. Ernie Fletcher has any sense and hope of redeeming himself with Kentucky voters, he will show up in Franklin District Court on June 7 for his arraignment on three misdemeanor charges of abusing the state Merit System and first apologize to Judge Guy Hart for Fletcher's attorney's effort to remove Hart from the case, and then he will say something like the following:

"Your honor, I'm here to plead guilty to these three misdemeanor charges. I do not believe the offenses the special grand jury charged me with represent the level of corruption the attorney general has alleged, but I am pleading guilty because there is an important business that must be done, and I cannot be tied up defending myself for months to come.

"Small businesses all across Kentucky are paying an unfair tax on profits they don't make because of mistakes made in last year's tax reform legislative session. I need to spend time developing a solution to that problem that both the House of Representatives and Senate can agree to and then call a special session to get it done.

"I can't do that if I'm closeted away with lawyers.

"Miners are dying needlessly in the Kentucky coalfields, and we have to do something about it. Tougher safety regulations have to be written and enforced. If new legislation is necessary, we'll draft it and present it to the General Assembly as soon as possible.

"I don't want to go to any more miners' funerals while I'm governor of Kentucky.

"We believe new Medicaid programs will bring the runaway cost of Medicaid under control, but we have to be alert to the possibility that some recipients may suffer and ready to act if that turns out to be the case.

"I can't do that while in court for perhaps weeks defending myself.

"More immediately, we have several hundred profoundly mentally handicapped men and women living in a dangerous environment at the Communities at Oakwood. Too many of them are being harmed there, and we have to find a solution that is safe for them and acceptable to their families.

"I can't focus all my attention on that crisis if I am preoccupied with preparing a defense on misdemeanors.

"We have an arena to build in Louisville and an international equestrian event in Lexington to plan for. And a whole lot of potholes to get filled from one end of the state to another.

"So, your honor, here's my personal check for the fines involved in my offenses, and my apology to the people of Kentucky that this whole mess took place.

"I can promise you and them that it won't happen again."

The result will be some big headlines and news bulletins, but then it will be over.

The special grand jury report — without naming names — will be highly critical of Fletcher and his administration, but that will happen whether the governor pleads guilty or innocent June 7.

The worst will be behind Fletcher, and indeed he can focus his entire attention on all the responsibility he carries as governor.

And he will save himself a lot of attorneys' fees in the process.

Hart isn't going to send the governor of the commonwealth to the county jail for six months or a year. And even if some Democrat introduces impeachment legislation next year, it won't go anywhere.

A guilty plea may not save Fletcher's political career and get him a second four-year term in office, but he will have the opportunity to show he deserves a second term in what remains of his first.

A protracted trial on the three charges, with sworn testimony that can only embarrass Fletcher and his party, will guarantee Fletcher won't have that second term, perhaps not even the chance to seek a second term.

So, will Fletcher have the sense to cut his losses and plead guilty?

So far, the evidence is stacked against it. Since the Merit System scandal erupted and Fletcher conceded, "Mistakes were made," he has stumbled at every turn. The infamous pardons of anyone and everyone but himself made them all look guilty as sin. Attacking Attorney General Greg Stumbo as politically motivated didn't work or Fletcher's approval rating would not be in the cellar.

But there's always hope that the stumbling and bumbling will come to a halt and the governor will decide to get on with being a governor and not a defendant.

By Tim Conley
Judge Executive

Hello from the Judge Executive's Office.

A few days ago I traveled with a gentleman to look at one of our county roads (Victor Holbrook off Hwy. 589). As we traveled across Morgan County we started to talk about our past, our present, and our future. As we were discussing the past, we began to talk about some of the games that we played as children and I thought about how much healthier we were when we kept ourselves busy playing and working outside until dark. I would like to list some of those games and see if they bring back childhood memories to you. If you're not familiar with some of these games, but would like to know the rules, give me a call. They are a lot of fun and can make a child have a healthier lifestyle.

Cannel City 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 26. The service will be conducted by A.L. Osborne, Rev. G.B. Trayner and J. Hayden Inglehart, with internment in West Liberty.

Born at Stacy Fork Oct. 1, 1871, Dr. Whitaker was the son of Alexander and Sevilla Brown Whitaker, the former a native of Virginia who came to Kentucky in 1860, and the latter a native of Kentucky.

He attended the Kentucky School of Medicine in Louisville, and graduated in 1894. He was married to Dora Lykins, who survives him. Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. C.P. Caudill, of Morehead.

In addition to his general practice, he served for many years as a physician for both the O & K Railway and the Kentucky Block Cannel Coal Company of Cannel City. In 1920, he became interested in banking and purchased a large interest in Commercial Bank when the bank's total deposits were $250,000 and its capital surplus was $25,000. Now the bank has deposits of over $3 million with a surplus of over $100,000.

Dr. Whitaker was elected to the State Senate and served from 1916 to 1924.

ming; 15. Kick the Can; 16. Tug of War; 17. High Jump; 18. Sack Races.

Now, just set around and name the games that you played as a kid. Make a list of the games that you remember and send them to me at 450 Prestonsburg Street, West Liberty, Ky. 41472.

When my children were young, we went camping, played little league baseball, minor league, and T-ball. I coached for about five years, and still today when I am out and about there are 20-year-olds that will walk up to me and talk about the year that we won. It is very rewarding to be a part of a kid's life in some fashion. Volunteering now will make a good conversation for later. I think of how many stories that Donnie McKenzie and Bert Holbrook could tell us about a young child — through their many years of work with the Little League program.

Occasionally, I will slow down; my wife and I will fix peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, get our nieces and nephews that live close by, and take them on a picnic up in the woods, and they love it. I know that someday in their busy lives they will sit down and tell their children about their childhood when their uncle and aunt took time out for them.

Our children are our future. Read to them, teach them, be an example for them. Do things with them, but most of all, love them and respect them and they will grow up and love and respect you, just as I do my mom and dad.

Letters

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

My name is Jenny Johnson and writing to you about an incident that happened on Tuesday, May 9, 2006, in Mount Sterling. I believe it was the FBLA organization from your high school that visited the Applebee's where I work as a server.

Before the group arrived, they had made a call to us and stated that they would be coming. I am assuming that before they got there, they had made a plan to not sit together, but instead they would sit with no more than seven people at a table because we, as servers, would add gratuity to their bills. Tips are how I make a living. I, myself, had two tables of five girls at each. Not only did they treat me like they were better than me because I was "just a server," but they were actually rude. Between the two tables, their bill was over $150.00. I never received the first penny from any of the Future Business Leaders of America. If that isn't bad enough, the girls twisted the tops off of the salt and pepper shakers on the tables, dumped the contents onto the table on top of ketchup, then placed a menu over it to try to hide it. This to me is very immature. At another time, there were other guests in the restaurant that overheard some of them say that the reason why they didn't have to tip was "because they could."

If these are the people that are going to be the business leaders of the future, then I am embarrassed. And your school should also be embarrassed.

This has nothing to do with Applebee's. I just wanted to let you know of what kind of reputation your students are putting on you as a community. I expect nothing more than an apology from each and everyone one of the kids. It wouldn't be so bad, but I, as a hard-working citizen of the United States had to pay an amount of about twenty dollars to taxes in which I never received. I pray that one day they will have to serve somewhere to support themselves during college or maybe even a family.

Without tips, I make nothing. The rate of a server pay is $2.13 per hour. The girls that I took care of, all had enough money to give a dollar or two, and I know this because they all received change back, excluding the ones that gave exact change.

Even the bus driver, who received their meal for free, and the teachers or parents, didn't have enough respect to leave enough tip to cover the taxes that had to be paid. I am not the only one that got this kind of lack of value, as did the other servers. The bill all together probably came to at least $400 in which not even ten percent was tipped. I am very angry and upset and hope that you understand how I feel and what I am trying to say.

Again, this has nothing to do with Applebee's but from me.

Thank you for taking the time to read this and please put some thought into what you would want done for you if ever in this kind of situation. The Golden Rule states "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." That is all I am asking for at this time.

Sincerely, Jenny Johnson

THINK ON THESE THINGS

If you are ever plagued with doubt,
And question whether God's about,
Try thinking on some simple things;
You'll be surprised the peace it brings--
A sleeping child; a summer's day;
A puppy, awkward in its play;
The clean, washed air that follows rain;
A diamond-frosted window pane;
An apple tree all pink and white;
The stillness of a starlit night;
A fire crackling on the hearth;
The smell of freshly spaded earth;
A trail you knew once long ago;
A picket fence high-capped with snow;
A song your mother used to sing--
Why you can pick most anything
And you will find your answer there--
It's still God's world--He's everywhere!

Clarence W. Maxwell

Clarence Wayne Maxwell, of Elliottville, Ky., succumbed to a heart attack on Monday, May 8, 2006, while doing what he loved best, working his land and planting.

Wayne was born on June 21, 1940, to John and Willie Mae Maxwell in Dublin, Texas, and attended 12 years of school, graduating in 1959. He spent six months in Washington working in a logging company until joining the Air Force in December 1959 serving as a medic until discharge in 1963. While on tour in Germany, he and his brother, Larry, who was in the Army, enjoyed seeing a great deal of the country before deploying home.

He married Jacqueline L. Spencer on August 15, 1964, in Dayton, Ohio. They had three children, Scott, Michelle, and Todd. Wayne worked at a tool and die company and Dayton Rubber before starting his own company, Aglasco, which he owned and operated for 30 years before retiring.

Wayne always tried righting what he perceived to be "wrongs" and went out of his way to help people. He was never shy about expressing his opinion and was earnest about seeking truth. He loved books, especially his Bible, which he read diligently. He loved to fish and trips to Washington meant a great deal to him and his loved ones. His last visit the summer of 2005 was truly a BLAST! He had promised us four weeks this summer but God had other plans. He had a sharp wit, loved to pull jokes on people and tease. He loved his God, his family and his country with a passion.

He is preceded in death by his son, Scott; his parents; his half-sister, Anige Bolton and her husband, Raymond, two brothers, Carl and Roy. He is survived by wife, Jackie, of Dayton, Ohio, daughter, Michelle Fecher and husband, Craig, and their 10 children, of Richmond, Indiana; his son, Todd, of Denver, Colorado; three brothers, John and Marilyn Maxwell; Larry and Arthetha Maxwell, of Kennewick, Washington; Joe and Marilyn Maxwell of N.Bend, Oregon; and one sister, Linda and Dick Cheney, of Kennewick, Washington; one sister-in-law, Lita Maxwell and Lynn Sauve, of Moxee, Washington; niece, Roxann and Chris Shuck whose son, Colton, Uncle Wayne requested on each phone call and daughter, Kayla; nephew, Richard Nedbalek; nephew, Jerry and Sherrie Bolton, of Stephenville, Texas; and two "sons of his heart", Eddie Maxwell, of Richland, Washington, and Joe Maxwell, of Renton, Washington; plus numerous nieces and nephews. He also left special friends, Joe Rogers and Larry Wallace, of Dayton, Ohio, and a host too numerous to name that loved and cherished him as he did them.

Wayne leaves a great void but nothing in this world is ever really lost... those we cherish will always live on in memory and by God's grace and the redemption of Jesus we will meet again. Rest in peace, dear Brother.

Memorial services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 3, at North Ridge Church of Christ, 2211 Needmore Road, Dayton, Ohio 45385 (937-274-6801) with private burial at Forest Hills Memorial Garden.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Clarence Wayne Memorial Fund at Fifth Third Bank, Dayton Center, One South Main Street, Suite 210, Dayton, Ohio 45402.

Of wedding vows and a snake's demise

I went to a weddin' the other day and I sat there amazed at the innocence in the eyes of the bride and groom. As I listened to the preacher and the words, "to love and to honor, cherish and obey, for better or for worse, in sickness and in health, until death do us part," I realized that this couple don't know what they're gettin' into.

It got me to thinkin'. I work everyday but at home, my wife waits on me hand and foot. She has for 20 years. And over the years, we've got to know each other pretty well. I've got habits that drive her crazy and she's got habits that drive me crazy, too (but I'm not goin' there — I'm smarter than that).

Take for instance a typical morning at my house. She wakes up and gives me a kiss. I guess over the years she's gotten use to my "morning breath." She gets up, makes us some coffee and brings me a cup in bed. We sit and talk about what we've got to do today. We turn on 27 NewsFirst, she goes and gets me another cup of coffee, and I start writin' my article for the Licking Valley Courier.

She's full of energy and my mind is going full throttle, but she knows my old worn out body has to be jump started. "You've got to get up and start moving around," she says. "You've got a full plate today."

Never mindin' my mumblin', she brings me a hot wash cloth. As I put it to my face, she kisses me on top my bald head and allows as how I'm "as slow as a sermon on a backslider a gettin' goin' in the mornin'."

She puts on her exercise duds and I watch as she begins doin' stretches. I catch her givin' me the once over as she goes through her stretches. "You know," she says casually, "you've got to get back to exercising — you look like you've gained about 20 pounds." Ouch! Those words, said so casually, strike like an arrow, and they hit home. I reach up and pull the arrow out and say, "I plan on it in a few days — I'm in kind of a rut right now" — still feeling her words where the arrow had penetrated my ego.

I think, maybe in the wedding vows, it should read "love, honor," and maybe "tolerate each other's imperfections."

Do I detect a look of disapproval in her eye as she says she's going on downstairs to do her exercises and will be back to fix breakfast in 30 minutes?

It's not three minutes till I hear her yellin' and runnin' up the stairs to the bedroom. "Arson, there's a big snake in the utility room!" she shrieks, bitin' at her fingernails with a worried look on her face.

Well . . . I just look at her, pull the covers off my old worn out, arthritis body — I swear of a mornin' when I get up I feel like I'm 90, it takes me till 10:00 to feel like I'm 50, and the day's usually about over before I feel like I'm 20.

Anyway, not hurryin', I slowly put my socks on. Wait a minute; one sock is on wrong side out. With no hurry, I take it back off and put it on right. Then, careful not to show any haste, I pull on my work boots, but don't bother to tie them.

Picture a man with long hair down on his shoulders, not combed, with a big bald spot right down the middle of his head that couldn't sneak up on a glass of water; no shirt, with a fat belly, in his "Fruit of the Loom" underwear and work boots with strings a floppin' walkin' slowly out the door to the truck. Hey! There ain't no houses nowhere. I live up a holler. And my wife standin' in the door a bitin' her fingernails.

I take my time getting to the truck, slow as a turtle crossin' the road. I ease a shovel out of the truck bed and start back to the house, then pause for second, turn around and walk back to the truck, pause for a second or two a little undecided, then reach in the truck bed and get a rake.

Calmly, careful not to hurry, I finally make it to the laundry room, and, sure enough, that snake is layin' right there in the middle of the floor. It's a black snake and it's a big one. I turn to be sure my wife has followed me. When I see her peekin' around the door, her face in a panic, I say, matter of factly, "Copperhead."

Then I turn around and with one deft lunge, I take the rake and pen the snake six inches behind the head. Then with three swift hacks with my shovel, I cut the black snake's head off. Then I reach down and grab the headless snake with my right hand, hold it up, and like the Neanderthal I am, I proudly parade it in front of my wife sayin' one word and one word only, "Copperhead!"

I take a deep breath, suck my fat gut in, stick my chest out, and stride out the door in my "Fruit of the Loom" underwear, untied work boots, uncombed hair down my back, and as I sling the snake over the hill, my wife looks at me with eyes that could tame even a Neanderthal and says, "You are such a man. I love you." I listen closely — not a hint of sarcasm there that I can detect — I don't think.

Anyway, as I sit my old arthritis, worn out body back down on the bed and start writin', my mind wanders back to them weddin' vows — Love, honor, cherish, and obey. Oh well, don't you reckon maybe "PROTECT" ought to be in there somewhere. Today I'm the man!

A Guide to Accurate Testing

There is probably only one thing worse than having to draw your own blood to test your blood sugar—and that is repeating the test because of an error. Below are some useful tips to ensure an accurate reading the first time.

- Wash hands with warm, soapy water and rinse and dry thoroughly before testing. Even minute amounts of food or soap residue can affect results.
- Clean your meter. You should clean it often and follow the manufacturer's instructions.
- Make sure you use the correct amount of blood. If the blood sample is not adequate, your meter may not read the glucose level accurately.
- Always use a new, fresh lancet.
- Check the test strip packaging to ensure that your test strips will work with your meter. Most meters require you to match the code on your meter with the code on your strip container.
- Periodically, check the date on your strips for freshness. Do not use test strips after their expiration date.
- Store your test strips properly so they do not deteriorate. Protect them from light, heat and humidity. Also, do not use test strips from a cracked or damaged container.

- To ensure that your meter is working properly, test it regularly with control solution, and keep extra batteries on hand.
- Take your meter with you on visits to your doctor and pharmacy. Compare your at-home results with the laboratory results.
- If you use a meter that enables alternate-site testing (the forearm or base of thumb, for example), be aware that readings from these sites may not be as accurate as results from fingertips. Plus, alternate-site test results can vary from fingertip results when glucose levels change quickly—such as after eating, taking insulin, during exercise or when you are sick or stressed. If you think your blood sugar is low or the way you feel does not coincide with the results from an alternate site, use a blood sample from your fingertip.

Cougars get early exit in regional baseball tourney

By David Patrick

Boyd County made quick work of the Cougars Monday morning in Morehead, scoring five early runs and throwing it in cruise control for a 12-2 victory in five innings.

Boyd used a Cougar throwing error, a walk and three consecutive singles to tally its five first inning runs.

Morgan did manage to get a couple of those back in the third inning as Brandon Allen and Devan Adkins reached base on a walk and double, respectively. The two players then scored on a pair of RBI groundouts from Matt Harris and John Robert Henderson. But that would be all the run production Morgan could muster.

The Lions, however, had plenty more as they scored three runs in both the third and fourth innings for an 11-2 lead. Boyd would then force the mercy rule with a fifth inning run for the 12-2 victory.

Brennan Sargent led the Lion offense with two hits, three RBIs, and as many runs scored. Brad Blanton banged out a team-high three hits, while knocking in two and also scoring two. Boyd scored its dozen runs on 11 base hits.

Morgan managed but three hits off pitcher Kyle Venters, with Devan Adkins, John Lopez and Nathaniel Peyton each collecting one apiece.

Unlike the district championship, Lopez struggled on the East Carter beats Cougars to claim district crown

Morgan errors spoil good pitching performance by freshman John Lopez

By David Patrick

East Carter broke open a 1-1 tie with two runs in the fourth inning and three more in the fifth as the Raiders beat Morgan County in the 62nd district finals, 8-4.

Cougar starter John Lopez was perfect through the first two innings, retiring the first six batters he faced. But back-to-back throwing errors allowed Raider leadoff hitter Cody Huffine to reach third base with no outs. He would score on a Kyle Greer groundout for a 1-0 lead.

Randy Wood's team got that run back in the fourth inning as John Robert Henderson reached on an error. That was followed by a perfectly executed hit and run as Jon Nickell grounded one just inside the first base bag and down the right field line. By the time Caleb Waugh could retrieve the baseball, the speedy Henderson had came around to score and tie the game at a run apiece.

But the Cougars committed their third error in two innings to again put East's leadoff hitter on the basepaths in the fourth inning. Maverick Barnhill proceeded to make Morgan pay with a long home run to left field to give his team a two-run lead.

After Cougar leadoff man Devan Adkins matched Barnhill's feat with a homer of his own to right field, Morgan's defense again failed them with two errors in the fifth that led to three more Raider runs as East extended its lead to 6-2.

A base hit by Nick McWhorter and walk to Jared Adams helped the Raiders tally their final two runs for a six-run lead.

To the Cougars' credit, they made it interesting to the final pitch. After John Lopez reached base on an error, Devan Adkins banged out his second hit of the game with an RBI double to right center. That was followed by a run scoring single from Matt Harris to cut the deficit to four. But Raider pitcher Justin Criswell bared down and retired John Robert Henderson on a pop out to first base as East claimed the four-run victory and the district crown.

On the mound, Criswell scattered eight hits over seven innings, striking out 11 and walking none. His counterpart, Morgan's John Lopez, was just as impressive. Lopez gave up only three hits over six innings, striking out two. Only four of East's eight runs were charged to the Cougar freshman.

Grand Stand this Saturday at the Community Center

By Mike Crase

I hope everyone had a safe and fun Memorial Day weekend. We are getting ready for our biggest event of the year this Saturday June 3rd at the Morgan County Community Center—Grand Stand. This event offers our best card of the year, along with an abundance of pageantry and celebration. It allows the public to come out and try the sport for the first time or to get back into the action! Below is a schedule of activities for Grand Stand:

Schedule

5:00 pm—Hall of Fame Ceremony: "The Legend" Byron Risner/ Inducted by Vice Chair Dan Arnett

5:30 pm—Open Play with 3 Tables to the general public.

6:45 pm—Open Play Ends/ Tables Closed —Seating for Event Begins

7:00 pm—GRAND STAND EVENT BEGINS

Last week's Super Sunday 2 (May 28, 2006) featured "The Terminator" Tyler Adkins retaining his title from "The Wall" Joel Nickell. Tyler has a seven game winning streak going into Grand Stand. "The Legend" Byron Risner beat "The Rock" Steve Patrick in a classic battle as he prepares to go for his 58th league championship at Grand Stand. "The Legend" is on a six game win streak heading into the big match. The last meeting between "The Legend" and "The Terminator" saw "The Terminator" win four games to three in a thrilling match to win the title. This should be a battle for the ages. "The Hammer" Charles Standifer will defend his Pride Title against "The Wall" Joel Nickell. "The Hammer" will be using his offensive spin attack and "The Wall" will be blocking and counter-smashing. Doubles Champions "The Terminator" and "The One" Josh May will defend against "The Players' Club", "The Hammer" and "The Legend" in a rematch from their big match two weeks ago. The WTAA Championship will be resurrected after an 11 year absence. The WTAA Steering Committee hasn't decided what format they will use to determine the new champion.

In any case, it will be an exciting addition to the event. Challenge Champion Andrew Lewis, who has reigned for three weeks as champion, will defend his title against the 49-time Challenge Champion "The Rock" Steve Patrick. Their last match, two weeks ago, went down to the wire as Andrew pulled out the last match to beat the legendary Challenge Champion. This one could go down to the wire as well.

Wesley Turnbo will match-up against Johnathan Lopez in singles competition with the winner getting a Challenge Title shot at the next meet. The last time these two premier Challenge players collided the series went to deuce in final game, where Lopez pulled out the duke. Joel Nickell and The Rock are set to take on Wesley Turnbo and a mystery partner at the event. More matches will be added to the event this week. To check them out go to our website at HYPERLINK "http://hyperlink.gppt.com" If you or anyone you know is interested in attending Grand Stand please contact us at 606-662-6332 or email us at HYPERLINK "mailto:hyperlink.gppt1@yahoo.com" See you at Grand Stand!

Blakey named to HCTC Dean's List

Hazard Community and Technical College student Samuel L. Blakey, of West Liberty, has been named to HCTC's Dean's List for the spring semester.

To be named to the Dean's List a student must have attained a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale.

McElwain named as All-American Scholar by USAA

Matthew McElwain

The United States Achievement Academy announced hat Matthew McElwain, of Lawrenceburg, has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or higher grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school instructor, counselor or other qualified sponsor are accepted.

Matt, who attends Anderson Middle School, was nominated for this national award by his science teacher, James Young, and will appear in the All-American Scholar Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history," USAA Founder Dr. George Stevens said. "Certainly, winners of the All-American Scholar award should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement."

Matt is the son of Kevin and Beverly McElwain, of Lawrenceburg. His grandparents are Margaret Cottle, of West Liberty; Sue Baker, of Lawrenceburg; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McElwain, of Penrod, Ky.

McCarty receives WKU scholarship

The College Heights Foundation at West Kentucky University is pleased to announce that Mrs. Michelle McCarty, of West Liberty, has been selected to be a recipient of the Sarah Gilbert Garris Scholarship for the summer 2006 semester.

The $1,500 Garris Scholarship is awarded annually to students in the Library Media Education program at WKU. Criteria for consideration include academic excellence and good citizenship.

Mrs. McCarty, a graduate student in the College of Education and Behavior Science, is an employee of the Morgan County school system.

Love is an ETERNAL Springtime

Everyone loves a wedding! Flowers, music, beautiful gowns - everything is perfect for the special occasion. When the newly married couple leaves the church they can choose the path their journey together will take—their love can be an "eternal springtime". For, when love comes to the altar, it is full of hope... and faith...and promise. If love returns to the altar week after week, it will discover God's unceasing renewal of those sacred vows. But it isn't quite so simple as praying together and staying together. As Proverbs 3:3 says, "Let love and faithfulness never leave you; bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart." Marriage is a couple's unending quest for every spiritual insight that will enable them to understand... to appreciate... to cherish... each other and God!

Income limits for housing program to be increased

The USDA Rural Development Area Office in Morehead announced an increase in income limits for the guaranteed rural housing (GRH) loans in Morgan County. Loans may be for up to 100 percent (102 percent if the guarantee fee is included in the loan) of appraised value or for the acquisition cost, whichever is less. No down payment is required.

The GRH program makes loans through private lenders for the purchase of new and existing homes. Loans are made to eligible applicants, with income that does not exceed the moderate income limit established for the area. A family’s income includes the total gross income of the applicant, co-applicant and any other adults in the household. Applicants may be eligible to make certain adjustments to gross income – such as $480 for minor children under 18 years old, fulltime students 18 years or older, child care expenses for children under 12 years old, $400 for elderly/handicapped families which could include a portion of the families’ medical expenses.

The applicant must have a credit history that indicates a reasonable willingness to meet obligations as they become due and have a repayment ability based on the following ratios: principle, interest, taxes and insurance (PITI) divided by gross monthly income must be equal to or less than 29 percent. Total debt divided by gross monthly income must be equal to or less than 41 percent.

Inquiries concerning the GRH program in Morgan County should be directed to Mary Linda Copher in the Morehead Rural Development office at 606-784-6447 ext. 113.

WORDS OF WISDOM

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, but in what direction we are going. —Goth

Only My Opinion

By Richard Stamper

Just like a lot of our hillbilly cousins, this young man went North to get a “Good” job. He wound up in Detroit, applied at every factory and finally every restaurant for even a dish washing job. He couldn’t find work because the Mexicans had already took up everything.

So now here he is in Detroit, broke, hungry and winter is coming on. He thought to himself, If I just had enough money for a bus ticket back home, I’d never leave again. So, he decided to rob a Liquor Store. Buy a bus ticket and go home.

Well he couldn’t afford a gun, so he looked around in the alley and found a piece of 2 x 4. He walked into a Liquor Store, shook his 2 x 4 and said “This is a hold up, give me all your money.”

The man behind the counter laughed at him. “Man, this is Detroit, the toughest town in America and this is one of the toughest parts of Detroit. I’ve already been robbed five times this year and all those men had pistols and even shot guns. Now you come in here with a 2 x 4 and think you will rob me. Just get out!”

Well being laughed at hurt the Hillbilly’s feelings. So he started swinging his 2 x 4. He busted most of the bottles on the shelves, then he layed onto the head and shoulders of the counter man, got him down.

Finally the counter man hollered “Enough, I’ll give you all the money, I will even open the safe. But I want you to promise me one thing. Take the money and buy yourself a gun, cause your going to kill someone with that 2 x 4!”

Somehow, a country boy can survive.

P.S. Uncle Finley came home, worked hard, and did right well. He never left the mountains of Kentucky again.

Michigan couple die in Elliott wreck

SANDY HOOK — A Michigan couple was killed Saturday, May 27, in a one-vehicle accident in Elliott County. State Police said

Amanda Kelly Smith, 28, of Southgate, Mich., died at the scene of the mishap, which occurred about 6:00 p.m. on Ky. 504.

Her husband, Jeffery Smith, 31, was transported to Cabell Huntington Hospital in Huntington, W.Va., where he died.

State Police said the accident occurred when the Smiths' vehicle ran out of the road and struck a tree.

ARH Refuses to Pay Nurses During National Nurses Week

While most Healthcare facilities employing registered nurses celebrated by gifting and honoring their nurses, Appalachian Regional Healthcare's administrators and Board of Trustees played the part of Scrooge and refused to pay the nurses wages ordered to be paid by an Arbitrator. During National Nurses week the leadership of ARH met behind closed doors and decided to refuse to honor Arbitrator I.B. Helburn's ruling to back pay nurses over 1.1 million dollars. The back pay order was the result of ARH reducing registered nurses wages by 10% in Dec. of 2005. The Kentucky and West Virginia Nurses Association filed a grievance and agreed to an expedited arbitration hearing to resolve the matter and avert a possible strike. Both parties agreed that the Arbitrator's decision would be final and binding.

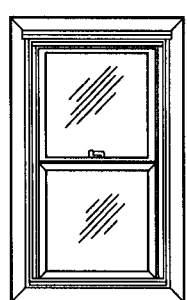

On May 15th the Associations were notified that ARH decided to refuse to pay the nurses and try to get an answer more to their liking in Federal Court. "Happy Nurse's Week" stated Bill Riggs, Labor Director for the nurses. "These nurses are ARH. They are the very face the patients look to daily to provide comfort and relief when they are most vulnerable. It really makes you wonder why ARH is so callous when it comes to their employees."

The Nurse association along with their attorneys will seek to turn back the frivolous suit filed by ARH and will support the nurses through this ill-conceived action by ARH. Wilma Jones, President of the nurses association in Hazard stated, "I have been a nurse here for over 29 years. I have never seen the nurses so low. Due to many resignations as a result of the pay reduction there are not enough nurses to provide high quality safe patient care. This is a very sad place to work. I remember past nurses's day celebrations and it made you really proud of what you do. This year the company didn't even recognize us except to decide to cut our pay. How sad."

Junction News

By Kathy Bolin
May 29--Greetings from the Junction.

Memorial Day weekend has been a little different for me this year, and of course it is summer so it is time for me to have a few odd experiences. On this occasion it was not horses that were involved, but a 1,000 pound cow. Saturday I went to Ethel Bolin's home to do the traditional setting of flowers on our family graves, but when I got there they had a cow in the barn hall that had a calf a week ago and was paralyzed in her hind quarters. Billy Wayne, Ethel, and I went to the barn to see how she was doing and to give her a shot. Low and behold when we got there she was lying on her belly with her back legs lying straight out like a frog does. We knew that she would not try to get up lying in that position, so Billy Wayne got the tractor and we strapped a nylon belt under her front legs so we could lift her. My job was to rock this humongous cow back and forth while they slid the straps underneath her. I was wearing flip flops on my feet, and with evry rock I felt my toes squishing back and forth in cow patties. Yuh!!! We finally got her up in the air and moved to a normal position. Needless to say my clean shower smell had taken on another odor. I sure do get in some of the worst predicaments. Oh well, I guess it is part of living a farm life.

I would like to wish a couple of people in Lower Sand Lick a Happy Birthday. Tammy Coffee, who is the wife of Billy Coffee, will be celebrating a birthday this week. And Brian Cox, who is the son of Tammy Cox, had a birthday last week. Happy Birthday!

Herbert Wright was back in the hospital this week. Herbert spent a couple days at ARH with an infection. Others at ARH last week were Diane Cantrell, daughter of Ethel Bolin, who had a bout with bronchitis, and Grace Burchett was in for pneumonia. All are back at home and on the mend.

The death angel was back in our neighborhood last week. Terry Cantrell, of Lick Branch Road, passed away on Thursday and was buried on Sunday at the family cemetery on Smith Creek. Terry had been ill for some time. He will be sadly missed. Also, another death this week was John Hammons. He was the father of Joey Hammons and Darris Hammons, of Straight Creek. Remember this coming week we will be having a memorial service at Williams Creek Church for members who have passed away. The ceremony will be held out under the pavilion. It is a refreshing experience to worship the Lord surrounded by all his has created. Service will begin at 11 a.m.

John and Ivy Leeper are back at home on Williams Creek. Ivy's sister, who lives in Pennsylvania, fell and broke her hip a couple of weeks back. The Leepers drove out to visit with her for a few days. Glad to have you back home.

One more item and then I'll close. There will be a Miss Licking Valley Patriot Day Beauty Pageant held Saturday, June 10, at 5:00 p.m., at the Morgan County Middle School. Age groups: Girls 0-16 and up. Boys: 0-5. If you need additional assistance contact Angie Wagers for entry forms at (606) 662-4051.

Benefit horse trail ride Sat., June 10, for Denzil Adkins

The trail ride will be on the farm where Denzil was raised by Lois Adkins and the late (Leonard Adkins). The farm is located off 650 to Big Mandy Road, Elkfork, Ky.

Dinner of hamburgers and hotdogs will be served at 1:00 p.m. and the ride will start at 2:00 p.m. We will be riding the Head of Redwine and Straight Creek Ridge, which is a portion of the Jenny Wiley Trail.

Cost will be $10.00 per rider. Also, nonriders are welcome to come and purchase a lunch for $5.00.

If you need directions or would be interested in assisting with the benefit or would like to donate, please call Edna Tyree at 522-4549 or Ray Adkins at 522-3777.

Lower Elkfork

By Alpha Clevenger
May 29--Sympathy is extended to the family of Edith Caskey who passed away last week. She was my neighbor and friend. She will be sadly missed by family and friends. She was a good person and had been ill for quite sometime. May God bless and comfort all her family. We had known her and her family for many years. Get well wishes to the sick and shutins and sympathy to others who have lost loved ones.

There's so much sickness and deaths everywhere and it pays people to be ready to go to meet the Lord. time is running out and the Bible is being fulfilled everyday. There's so much hatred, envy, and strife and jealousy in the world. So many bad things happening we know the coming of the Lord is nigh. There's no love among people anymore. Parents murdering their children, husbands killing their wives, and wives killing their husbands. The Bible says it will wax worse and worse. It's all coming to pass and we're living in the last days.

Barry and Alpha were decorating graves in Elliott and Morgan counties last Thursday. I told Barry we'd better go while its dry. They were giving a lot of storms and rain, and I sure am glad we went when we did, because we had a lot of rain and storms the next day.

Hope everyone is doing well and celebrating memorial day weekend being with family and friends.

I haven't written a column for some time now. Been so busy with spring time and all the many chores that goes along with spring. So much to do and as we grow older we can't seem to work as fast as we used to. We slow down a bit and I stay so tired it seems. Sometimes I get behind with all the work and I don't get up as early as I used to. Then the day is gone before we know it and grass and weeds just keeps on growing and we have to mow the grass and cut the weeds.

Saturday and Sunday really got hot. The temperature shot up to 80s and 90s. Will probably have a hot summer.

I haven't heard from Sophie Blevins and Gary, of Grant Park, Illinois. I think of you often and pray that you will recover soon.

How are you Fairy Dean? Hope you and your family are doing well. Call me sometime.

Alpha was recent guest of Dempsey and Rosie and ate supper with them. They were fine. I also visited Joy and family recently. They were fine. The children are growing up so fast.

Alpha was at Herald and Stewart Funeral Home for the wake of Edith Caskey last Saturday.

How are you, Sue Kinner. Haven't seen you for a while. I see Earl sometimes at The Courier Office. When I bring something for The Courier. They are nice people.

Alpha attended the homecoming at Rev. Vernon Lewis' church at Blaze last Sunday. Rev. Eugene Haney had preached a revival there. Sure was a good service and fellowship and plenty of good food. You feel welcome there. A lot of nice and friendly people.

Alpha and Barry passed the home of Jewell Clevenger one day this week and I told Barry to blow the horn. She was sitting on the porch and she waved her hand. I wanted to stop and see her, but Barry was in a hurry that day. Maybe I'll stop by and see her when I'm by myself. I like to drive my own vehicle.

I heard Katie on W.R.L.V. Saturday morning, but I didn't take time to call. She does a great job. Keep up the good work Katie. How is your beautiful little girl, Julie? I'd love to see her. It's been a while. I bet she's really grown a lot since I've seen her. I could come to see you when Barry goes to Paintsville, but he always goes real early and I don't get out real realy sometimes.

I met up with Elvin and Marlene at Herald and Stewart and Halsey Funeral Home for the wake of Edith Caskey. They were fine and nice people. If anyone that reads this column has a real good push lawn mower and a real good small rotary tiller in good condition for sale, please call anytime (606) 743-1357 and maybe we could find them by placing an ad in The Courier. If anyone has yellow tomato plants with red steaks and purple tomato plants, the one that looks like a potato leaf. I wish you could call me at the same number, 743-1357.

Thank you.

Alpha was in town on Friday and talked to Peggy at Commercial Bank. She is a nice lady, and the other ladies that are employed at the bank are nice ladies, also.

I talked to Raymond and Peggy Vancleave on Sunday. I've known them for years and been in church with the. I always thought a lot of them. They are nice people, too. I've known them for years and been in church with them. I always thought a lot of them. They are nice people, too.

I've been so busy for the past few weeks setting out flowers and I'm still not done. Hope how soon I'm finished. Its a hard job for me. Working in a garden not counting all the other work I have to do. I wonder why I have so much to do. Kinow we all slow down as we grow older and when daylight saving time starts it makes it worse. Time don't wait on no one. We have to rush more and the day is gone before we know it. I guess everyone wishes the time would stay one way or another. It changes every six months. Today (Monday) the temperature is going to be near 90 degrees. It turned off so hot after all of the cooler weather for the past few weeks.

During the recent Academic Awards Week, Morehead State University honored outstanding students in the various departments. The Department of Nursing recognized Deatra L. 4-H Teen Club is awarded grant from local agency

The Morgan County Local KY-ASAP Board recently awarded $1,120.00 to the Morgan County 4-H Teen Club.

The Morgan County 4-H Teen Club is part of the 4-H Youth Development program which provides youth the opportunity to belong and sow the seeds for developing a better community.

"Youth Development is a main priority for the 4-H program and helping these teens gain a higher self-esteem and respect for themselves and their surroundings is a step in preventing teens from engaging in activities that lead to criminal acts and drug abuse," said Michelle Whitt, KY-ASAP chair.

The funding is to give the 4-H Teen Club the opportunity to participate in the State 4-H Teen Leadership Conference held at the University of Kentucky, June 12-15, 2006. At the conference, the 4-H youth will learn a variety of skills and are exposed to a wide variety of workshops on leadership and having a positive outlook on them selves.

The Morgan County Teens will host an open discussion every night in their dormitories with a different drug topic each night. The first night the group will view the video "Innocent Addition." The second night will be about Meth Identification and the last night will be on the effects of alcohol abuse as a teenager. The information they gain at the conference will be brought back to their communities to pass on to the younger youth and other teens.

Governor cites Morgan native for volunteer work

Debra Keeton Browning, daughter of Callis and Ann B. Keeton, of Barker Branch, recently received a Governor's Citation for Outstanding Services to the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its Citizens.

The Citation is through the governor's office, Cabinet for Health and Family Services and the Kentucky Commission on Community Volunteerism and Service. Reasons cited for the award are because of her demonstration of high integrity and ability, meriting great trust and respect on behalf of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its citizens.

Debra has logged over 4,000-plus hours as a community volunteer in Kentucky. She graduated from the old Morgan County High School in 1974.

Mrs. Browning has agreed to accept a position with Volunteers in Service To America, and will be sworn into service to the United States of America on June 16 in Atlanta, Ga. She will be the community collaboration coordinator for Ashland/Boyd County C.A.R.E.S. Agency.

Debra is pursuing a degree as a clinical psychologist, and hopes to work with a local community service agency upon completion of her degree. Debra's first volunteer position was here in West Liberty. While in high school, she helped as an assistant Girl Scout leader with the former Phyllis Peyton, and was a volunteer at the summer Girl Scout camp sponsored by the late Mrs. Spencer. Later, she was employed by the Girl Scout office in Ashland.

Debra credits her parents for her work ethic, integrity and great love of our county and state for creating in her the love of working for our county and the less fortunate. She attributes the tireless work ethic and compassion for helping others to grandmothers, Mrs. Nell (Johnny) Jones and Mrs. Gusta Keeton and the late John Tom Keeton, and a very special aunt, Mrs. Berta (Ed) Gillespie. She is a sister of John Keeton of Ashland.

"I am proud of my heritage to the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and Morgan County," Debra says. "My ancestors were in Morgan County before it was even Morgan County. My father's family heritage can be documented back to the American Revolution and on into this beautiful state and county. I am very proud to be from Morgan County and Kentucky. Being the daughter of a retired U.S. Marine, we moved frequently, but we were always three to see the mountains of Morgan County come into sight on dad's annual military leave home to Kentucky."

Mrs. Browning is married to Rick Browning, of Ashland. They have two adult children, Joshua (Faith) Browning and Cody (Ann) Browning, both of Ashland. She also has two grandchildren, Lennon and Anna Grace Browning, both children of Joshua.

Tech Plan ...

The report identifies the top priorities for the next year and a half:

Increase Technology Education – Organize existing technology classes and offer new ones, with the goal of increasing the computer usage rate in the county.

Make Government More Accessible Online – Create user-friendly government websites and use GIS and other technologies to improve government operations.

The report also includes dozens of recommendations for future steps, such as creating a high-tech center to showcase the latest technologies, increasing the use of mobile computer stations in bookmobiles or outfitted vans and helping non-profit groups learn how to use the Internet to save on the cost of paper mail.

A team of local volunteers completed the "road map" for technology-based growth and development during a months-long meeting process. The Morgan County eCommunity Leadership Team built the plan with guidance from "ConnectKentucky," a non-profit group that believes technology can help Kentucky remain the place of choice to live, work and raise a family.

The meetings are part of Kentucky's Prescription for Innovation, a plan to ensure that every Kentucky household has access to high-speed Internet by 2007. The plan ultimately aims to increase the number of high-tech companies and jobs in Kentucky.

ConnectKentucky's local project manager, Ernie Wood, will continue to work with local volunteers as they implement the plan.

Judge-Executive Tim Conley said broadband technology opens the world to Eastern Kentucky. "We believe that our skyways are our new superhighway," Judge Conley said. "Broadband technology helps us connect to the world from eastern Kentucky. While we may not have a four-lane road into the county, we have a six-lane skyway."

Kentucky once lagged behind when it came to technology, but the Commonwealth has begun to experience a technology turnaround as a result of recent efforts. Broadband service covered just 60 percent of Kentucky households in 2003. Now, 77 percent of households can access broadband. By 2007, everyone in Kentucky should have access.

More Kentuckians are actually using high-speed Internet service, too. Currently, 32 percent of Kentucky adults subscribe to broadband, closely following the national average of 33 percent.

Broadband technology can help Kentuckians take advantage of world-class opportunities without having to leave home. For example, small business owners can set up shop in a rural area while serving customers around the globe; students can study with experts in their fields; and libraries can offer the latest electronic books with no waiting list.

Already in Kentucky, broadband service is being used to remotely arraign prisoners in state courts, to web-cast high school athletic games, and to conduct biotech research in a rural county. Employers who located thousands of jobs in Kentucky attributed their decision to the availability of high-speed Internet.

For more information, or to participate in future meetings, contact ConnectKentucky Project Manager Ernie Wood at 270-799-0875 or ewood@connectky.org.

A FUNNY

Richard Popkin and Avrum Stroll, in Philosophy Made Simple, relate the story of the American philosopher Morris Raphael Cohen, who in teaching Descartes to his class had carefully explained Descartes' reasons for doubting his very existence. He then sent his students home to read the philosopher's Meditations.

The next day a worried young man, looking much the worse for wear, reported to Professor Cohen. He had been up all night studying and worrying about the assignment.

"Professor Cohen," he said anxiously. "Please tell me, do I exist?"

Professor Cohen considered the question and then answered, "And who wants to know?"

Woman's Club meeting held May 18th at ARH

The Morgan County Woman's Club met May 18 at the Appalachian Regional Hospital. There were sixteen members present plus the speaker. The devotional consisted of a beautiful rendition of the Lord's prayer by Andrea Trusty. The Conservation Committee hosted the meeting. Our speaker, Tim Hatfield, the new CEO at ARH, was a breath of fresh air. He spoke on a variety of topics such as: perception, quality, electronics medical records, community forum, regional forum for doctors and hospice. We toured home of the renovated rooms and looked at possible rooms for hospice. Lela Trusty also is planning to start a training program for hospice volunteers.

Emily Bolin talked about her upcoming trip to Camasca, Honduras and asked for prayers for her trip. The conservation committee purchased three berry bushes for the part. The bushes have been planted. Also, fifty dollars was given to the Kiwanis Club to buy additional flowers for the Kiwanis Park. Four of the woman's club members will be planting them with Marilyn Harper in charge. The program concluded with tasty refreshments provided by Tim Hatfield.

We need new members. We meet the third Thursday each month in the conference room at the Community Center.
